Mousseau appointed fire chief

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Didsbury has a new fire chief after town council ratified an unofficial election by the fire department and appointed long time fire fighter Rick Mousseau to the position.

The appointment came last Thursday after members of town council's Protective Services Committee met with Mousseau to discuss his qualifications for the job.

"Things are different now than they were in the past," said Didsbury Mayor Ray Lea, explaining why the election result was not just accepted by council as it had been in the past.

Fire fighters who supported Mousseau had shown up at last Tuesday's council meeting to discuss the issue of the election and to question why the appointment had not been made official.

"We are concerned because in the past the decision of the fire department had just been rubber stamped," said volunteer fireman Greg Hnatiuk. "We just wanted to know why it was different this time."

But Lea said the decision to interview candidates for the fire chief's job stemmed from a new attitude from the current town council.

"As the town, we have a legal liability and we want to make sure that the person who takes the job is ready to take it on," he said. "Even though this is a volunteer department, if anything goes wrong, we are responsible."

Mousseau, a bus mechanic with the county who has been a member of the fire department for 14 years, replaces Gary Halfyard who was fire chief for 4 years.

Mousseau said he hopes the issue of the election can quickly be resolved and the members of the fire department can put aside any differences.

"There shouldn't be any politics in voluntarism," Mousseau said in an interview shortly after his election. "I think everyone will come together. We have a great bunch of guys over there."

Wild Rose race begins

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The race for the Parliamentary seat in Wild Rose began in earnest last week when Prime Minister Kim Campbell called a general election for October 25.

Declared candidates Roy Schellnut of the Liberal Party and Myron Thompson of the Reform Party were quick to begin their campaigns after the writ was dropped, holding official kick-off parties in their campaign headquarters.

Conservative candidate Louise Feltham had been pre-emptive on the election call, holding her official campaign opening last Monday.

The election call begins what many feel will be a hotly contested race for the MP's seat.

"We've done our own poll," said Liberal candidate Roy Schellnut. "I guess about 400 to 450 people were polled and it showed that the Liberals, PCs and Reform Party are all fairly close. There is a big undecided vote though."

But not all candidates feel the election will be a three way race. Feltham said her campaign is gearing up to fight it out with the Reformers.

"They are the ones to compete with (in this race)," Feltham

Engine fire

There were a few tense moments in downtown Didsbury last Friday when CP Rail engineers reported an engine fire. Rail employees dumped the train about 3 km outside of town after noticing flames underneath the engine and met fire fighters behind the train station. The fire, caused by a burnt out traction engine, was quickly doused, but fire fighters said next time they would prefer to meet the train outside of town limits.

Town council notes

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Town council plans to create a new procedural policy on the disposal of town land as a result of a court ruling which quashed the by-law allowing sale of the Habermehl House.

Didsbury Mayor Ray Lea said council accepted responsibility for the court's decision and plans to formalize procedures to ensure it doesn't happen again.

"We still feel that we made a sound business decision, but not a sound political one," Lea said at the last town council meeting.

Lea said the town will hire an appraiser to determine their own value for the property before deciding to begin repairs to the house.

"I'm not an appraiser but I think we will probably have a difficult time getting what (the appraiser) determines," he said. "We have probably lost the 2 original buyers."

Lea said the home will likely be put on open tender.

Local RCMP will be asked to become more stringent in handing out by-law infraction tickets within town limits.

Mayor Ray Lea said he would like to see RCMP boost enforcement of parking by-laws and other traffic infractions in an effort to reduce belligerent violations of the law.

"The RCMP have had a policy to try and keep things nice and casual in town, not to disturb the situation, but we have no income coming in to help offset (the cost of law enforcement in town)," Lea said. "And there are a few infractions happening."

Lea said council plans to discuss the possibility of changing their policy at the next meeting with the RCMP.

Didsbury's by-pass road, which passes both Reimer's Concrete and Feeg's Propane, will receive $4600 in repairs this fall.

Town Councillor Gayle Veno said the need for repairs to the road is so serious, council is willing to take a cost overrun in their budget to pay for immediate work.

"This was an oversight in the budget and something that needs to be done before the frost sets in," Veno said.

The $4600 price tag on the work will only cover materials. Veno said the repair is only a temporary solution and council will soon be forced to consider complete reconstruction of the road.

The recreation board will be preparing cost estimate on the construction of basketball courts for inclusion in next year's budget.

Town Council asked to rec board for the prices after land was donated by the Missionary Church for creation of the courts.

Council had considered adding courts to last year's budget but decided against the move because of the cost.

Town council will be writing a letter to CP Rail this week to complain about a 100 percent increase in rental for 2 parcels of land.

The land, one west of the tracks on the north side of the main town intersection and one adjacent to the town shop, is rented by the town on a yearly basis. Council recently received a letter from CPR noting the increase in rental fees to $500 per year from $250. Administrative costs were cited as the reason for the increase.

But Town Councillor Ed Vermunt said he felt the increase was out of line with the town's use for the land.

"After all we do maintain their lot and keep it clean. I just feel the rate increase is exorbitant."

The town currently uses both parcels of land for parking. Besides paying the rental amount every year, the town also waives taxes on the land.

Didsbury will hire mechanical engineers to determine the heating needs of the arena before completing an upgrade of the building's system.

Town Administrator Mike Storey told town council a review of the heating needs should take place before proposals from 2 local plumbers are considered for upgrading the seating area heating system at the rink.

Council has been considering changing the current overhead heaters at the arena to infra-red. Storey said a mechanical engineer will determine the necessary size of the system and evaluate the plumbers' proposals before any work begins.

A request to change the zoning of land in the Rosebud Valley Park area has been rejected by town council.

Council decided to keep the R2 zoning designation despite a request from a local resident to change it to Public Recreation. The decision came after consultation with other local residents and the Didsbury Recreation Board.

"The recreation board was frankly taken aback that council would consider rezoning the land to recreation," said Town Councillor Vance van Dam. "They felt it was pure common sense that if the land is available, then we could get money in the coffers."

The request to rezone the area, situated north of the hospital, came from residents who claimed they purchased their homes on a verbal understanding that the land would remain a park. But council felt it was unreasonable for town residents to feel their view would never be obstructed.

"We have had some concern over a verbal commitment (that may have been made), but we can't make a decision to never build in that area," Didsbury Mayor Ray Lea said. "We can't predict what might happen 20 or 100 years from now."

But while council decided against rezoning, Lea said they have no plans to develop the area at this time.

"We feel we want to leave (the land) for future development. We're just saying that we are not going to develop it right now. At least that gives people the option to make the decision to sell if they don't like the idea."

Town council will be taking money from their Main Street program to clean up trees in the downtown area.

The decision to transfer the funds to the pruning program came at the request of Town Councillor Vance van Dam.

"A lot of those trees really need to be cleaned up," he told other members of town council at their last meeting. "There are some concerns about replacement of the trees in the downtown core as well and we hope to address that if the downtown revitalization is formed."

Town council has passed a non-smoking by-law which restricts smoking in town buildings.

The municipal library and the town office are now off limits for those who want to light up. A policy to restrict smoking in certain areas of the Memorial Complex is under review by the Recreation Board and is expected to be added to the non-smoking by-law later this month.

The by-law to restrict smoking came at the request of members of the town council, despite discouragement from council's administrator Mike Storey. Storey, a smoker himself, told council he was against implementation of any by-law which does not allow for a smoking area.

"I think since smoking is not against the law, employers should allow an area for employees to smoke if you are going to prohibit it in the rest of the building."

But town council disagreed.

"I guess drinking isn't against the law, but we don't have to provide a place for that," said Councillor Rod Collinge.

School board takes on new division

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The County of Mountain View School Board trustees voted last week to accept a merger with the Cranberry Hills School Division.

The merger was part of a ministerial order which has seen the merger of a majority of inactive school boards with larger neighboring boards.

Cranberry Hills, located on the western border of the county, has been sending students to Mountain View Schools for some time. As a result, school board officials expect very little will change with the official merger.

"They have about 16 students approximately," said County Reeve John Grimstead. "All of them are in Cremona except one; that student is in Sundre."

Under the merger agreement, the county will get the school district's assets along with the students. More detail on collection of taxes and voter input in the Mountain View School Board are expected later.

"We have received no direction at all on how representation is to proceed," said County Commissioner Herman Epp. "My understanding is Mountain View is the only jurisdiction involved in this kind of amalgamation (where the division merged is outside municipal boundaries). It makes it difficult to determine how representation is going to be solved."

Mergers between active and inactive school boards has been taking place around the province since the provincial education department ordered the amalgamations earlier this year. The government expects to save $1.3 million through the merger program.

Relocation

The cenotaph was lovingly reconstructed in its new home east of the hospital last week by Hans and Bill of Pete Masonry. The pair had reconstructed the Didsbury cenotaph the last time it was moved to its home near the Memorial Complex in 1975. The new location by the hospital is expected to give it better visibility. It was moved because of the construction of the pool and new curling rink.

Crime of the week

On CrimeStoppers this week we need your help in identifying a man responsible for an armed robbery of Tags Store in Red Deer, Alberta.

On Saturday, July 31, 1993 at about 11:38 p.m. a man entered the Tag's Food Store at 5101 76 Street Red Deer. He produced a knife and demanded cash from the clerk. After receiving some cash the man was seen running west and then south behind the store towards Nordegg Crescent. He is described as: Caucasian male, 18-25 years, 5'8" (173 cm), 160 lbs. (073 kg), brown hair to collar, brown eyes, clean shaven, no moustache.

The suspect was wearing: blue jeans, black cloth jacket with some sort of logo on the front and writing on the back, white runners, light coloured baseball cap.

If you have any information regarding this armed robbery or any unsolved crime, call CrimeStoppers at 340-TIPS, that's 340-8477 or call toll free at 1-800-661-TIPS. The calls to CrimeStoppers are not traced or recorded and you never have to give your name or testify in court. CrimeStoppers will pay up to $2,000 for information leading to the arrest of suspects in any unsolved crime. said from her campaign office early this week. "The Liberals have never been strong in this riding and I don't expect they ever will be, in this election anyway."

Thompson agreed.

"This has traditionally been a Conservative riding," he said. "But I think people will be pleasantly surprised to see how well our policies fit with what people are saying."

All three candidates are looking forward to a well rounded debate schedule. Organizers from all three parties said they are working to arrange debates in 5 majors centres in the riding. The first is tentatively scheduled for Carseland on October 5.

The economy will likely be the major issue in the debates, according to all three candidates. Unemployment, the debt and judicial reform are also topics the candidates feel are important to constituents.

OPINIONS / EDITORIAL

Janice

It begins

The process of door knocking, coffee clatch discussion of issues and personality conflicts begins again with the federal election underway.

Now Wild Rose constituents must take the time to decide who or, at the least, which party they want to represent them over the next 4 years.

There are three candidates to choose from, and by most accounts, the decision will not be an easy one.

The incumbent Conservative candidate offers more of the same policies as the last 4 years; a situation most constituents have complained bitterly about. On a national level, they are promising more hard news economically until the year 2000. The possibility of cuts to the health care system has been discussed and job creation, an issue near to many homes in this part of the country, is not a topic at all. Do we forget that this candidate did not show up for the important parliamentary vote on the GST? Do we forget the economic hardships, the tax increases and the free trade agreements that have occurred under her party's government?

Then again, this party is sporting a new leader and has picked up many of the Reform policies residents of this riding have considered important. Do we forget about the past under Mulroney and hope that this is a new PC party with the answers to our economic woes?

On the other hand we can choose the Reform Party which is stressing more and more cuts, some hard line policies on judicial reform and what might be called "moralism". The Reform Party's policies have been very popular in this area, seeming to have all the answers on solving our fiscal and societal problems. But this is a party with absolutely no parliamentary experience at all. Only one member of their party has sat in the House. They preach reform yet they do not have the experience which can tell them whether or not they can implement the changes they espouse. More specifically, this is a party highly unlikely to form a government in this century. Do we elect a candidate we know will sit as an ineffective back-bencher?

The Liberal candidate represents a party that has been despised in this part of the country for more than a decade. The feelings of western alienation and the separatist movement gained strength under the policies of the last Liberal rule. This is an eastern party, led by a Quebecois. Will the candidate prove effective in representing western, Alberta interests or can Albertans expect to be looked over in favor of eastern issues? On the other hand, this is a candidate who has strong western connections who would work for a leader with more than 25 years experience in the federal government. Would electing this candidate mean a strong western voice in what could be the next Liberal government?

The resulting debate and discussion regarding the choice will no doubt make for interesting conversation over the next 6 weeks.

Quote of the week:

"One of Wendy's most notable aspects is that she refuses to have a desk in her classroom. She prefers to spend the time with her students. That just gives you an idea what kind of teacher she is."

A fond farewell

Dear Editor:

On behalf of myself, and others, I would like to extend my deepest appreciation to former Didsbury Fire Chief, Gary Halfyard.

In his terms in the Fire Department executive, and then as Chief, he attempted with all his dedication and resolve to produce a first-rate fire service for this town and surrounding rural areas.

Never undaunted by remarks about his physical disabilities received in an electrical accident last year, or by jealousy towards his leadership abilities; he continuously strived towards the most capable, competent fire service that could be achieved in our continuously growing town.

Although tagged a "volunteer", he strongly believed that this term was a misnomer in an emergency service, that even volunteer fire fighters must be as well trained and dedicated as professionals are, in order to offer the highest level of protection for life and property as possible.

His attitudes and integrity will be sorely missed.

Sincerely,
Greg Cousins
Former Training Officer,
D.F.D.

Legislature opening notes

Dear Editor:

The 23rd session of the Legislature began on August 30th with a Speech from the Throne. This was followed within a week with the Budget address. Both of these documents reaffirm the governments commitment to reduce the expenditures by 700 Million dollars in this fiscal year. A quarterly report has been produced by the Treasurer confirming the current status and whether or not the objectives are being met. I would be pleased to supply any of the foregoing to anyone in our constituency upon request.

A Round Table on Health Care was held in Red Deer and I was impressed with the calibre and sincerity of the discussions and more are being held across the province.

I have put forward a Private Members Bill to deal with the "Wild Horses" in our eastern slopes. These horses are not native to our area and therefore not subject to our wildlife regulations. I am proposing changes to our Stray Animals Act which will authorize monitoring and control of these animals and will define the accepted procedure for capture if and where this would be required.

There have been a number of changes within the Assembly as well. For the first time, our Speaker and Deputy Speaker were elected by free and confidential vote. Free votes have been carried over into Private Members Bills and Motions as well. A committee has been struck to finalize a great number of recommended changes to our Legislative Procedures and I have been appointed to that committee.

And finally, I have had an opportunity to discuss the merits of a news column with the various newspapers in our constituency. Some have requested it to continue weekly. Some would prefer a monthly "editorial" and some have asked for a column two or three times per year. I have always enjoyed writing the column and attempted to keep it factual and non-partisan. It does provide an opportunity to discuss issues such as Beatrice Foods. So I'll simply state that if you have any questions - about any issue - at any time, please contact our constituency office at 556-3132 or my Edmonton office at 427-1812 (collect).

Encouragement to participate

Dear Editor:

To maintain the vision and principles of Terry Fox while raising money for innovative cancer research in an annual event known as The Terry Fox Run - mission statement of the Terry Fox Foundation.

Terry Fox was diagnosed with osteogenic sarcoma (bone cancer) in his right leg in 1977. His leg was amputated six inches above his knee. While in hospital, Terry was so overcome by the suffering of cancer patients that he decided to run across Canada to raise funds for cancer research. His journey was called The Marathon of Hope.

Terry's Marathon of Hope took place in 1980 with Terry's simple objective of raising the awareness of all Canadians of the critical need to find a cure for cancer. Terry's fierce determination resulted in his running 26 miles every day for 143 days. By February 1st, 1981 Terry's hope of raising $1 from every Canadian was realized - the Terry Fox Marathon of Hope fund totalled $24.17 million. A major milestone - over $100,000,000 raised since 1980 - was achieved with the completion of the 1992 Run. All funds support innovative cancer research as determined by The National Cancer Institute of Canada (NCIC). We are told that this event is the largest single-day fund-raiser for cancer research in the world.

On May 26, 1988, The Terry Fox Run became a Trust, independent from The Canadian Cancer Society, and received tax-exempt charitable registration as a public foundation under Section 149.1 (1)g of the Income Tax Act. The annual event will continue to be known as The Terry Fox Run; the structural organization is now known as The Terry Fox Foundation.

The Terry Fox Foundation strives to maintain the heroic efforts and integrity that Terry Fox represented. It is a grassroots organization. It does not allow any commercialization, nor does it seek any government funding other than small amounts for part time help on a short time basis.

The Foundation recognizes the duality of its mandate. Not only does it raise money for research but it also does its best to tell the story of Terry Fox to school children so that their lives might be enriched by his example and inspired by his courage.

The Terry Fox Foundation raises funds for use in innovative cancer research primarily through an annual event held every September.

Update on adult learning

Dear Editor:

In your newspaper, you will have noticed ads regarding adult learning and the broad public stakeholder consultation that I announced last spring. The objective of this process is to involve Albertans in the development of a strategic plan to guide the future of adult learning in Alberta, now just on the short term, but into the 21st century. My recommendations will be presented to the government in the Spring of 1994.

A highly skilled workforce is key to the future prosperity of Alberta. A draft of the Report on Alberta's Economic Future: Toward 2000 Together makes it clear that education and training throughout life is critical to our ability to meet the challenge of a competitive global economy. This reality has combined with changing demographics to increase the need for more and varied learning opportunities. Adults of all ages need education and training as well as regular up-grading to meet the challenge of a rapidly changing social and economic environment. Moreover, the 18-24 age group in the population is expected to grow significantly putting even greater demands for access at our institutions.

At the same time, funding for adult learning in Alberta is being constrained as the province and the federal government move to address annual deficits and reduce the accumulated debt. Additional funding by taxpayers can no longer be the answer to change; innovation will enable our adult learning systems to increase quality at reduced cost.

Adult Learning: Access Through Innovation will involve Albertans in discussions on the major issues facing adult education and training. We must give serious consideration to ways of increasing access to quality learning opportunities, to ensuring that those opportunities are responsive to the needs of students, and to achieve all of this in ways that are affordable to taxpayers, students, employers and employees.

This is your opportunity to be heard and to play a part in helping to develop a strategic plan for the future of adult learning in Alberta. Your input is key to the quality of this process.

I look forward to hearing your ideas over the coming months.

Minister, Alberta Advanced
Education and Career Development

The public opinion

by Doug Sharpe, Chairman
Didsbury Urban Crime
Watch Society

When I was invited to contribute to the Didsbury Review's guest editorial column it wasn't difficult to pick a topic to discuss with you, the readers. The newly formed Didsbury Urban Crime Watch Society came to mind.

The Urban Crime Watch Society is a result of a need recognized by the Citizens Advisory Committee, of which I'm a member. The committee felt that although crime against residents and property was not running rampant, a preventative program could stem any growing problems. By May of this year we had enough members to schedule our first night drives. Since that first schedule was put together, we have doubled our membership.

Aside from the obvious benefits of such a service, something else has happened. People, who might not have otherwise felt a need to volunteer their service, came forward. As a result we have a dedicated membership and many are new to the volunteer scene. This group of volunteers are low profile and seek little public recognition. They quietly go about their business doing the night drives and reporting anything unusual or suspicious to the RCMP. The results are encouraging and we feel the program has had, and will continue to have, an affect on the "night life" in Didsbury.

With their continued dedication, this group of volunteers will play a very important role in maintaining the way of life we all enjoy in our community.

The NCIC is the sole beneficiary of the funds raised. NCIC utilizes these funds for innovative cancer research seeking the secrets behind the early detection, treatment and cures for all cancers.

The success of the 1992 event was made possible by the dedication and hard work of thousands of volunteers who organized over 3,000 run sites in Canada. Across the country over 500,000 participants walked, jogged and biked in memory of Terry Fox to raise funds. Nine Terry Fox Run offices in Canada with 17 full-time employees supported the magnificent work of the Organizers.

In 1992, there were 150 International run sites in such countries as China, Germany, England, Australia, and various cities in the United States. Approximately 24,000 people participated in these International runs which raised close to $800,000 for cancer research.

The 14th annual Terry Fox Run will take place on Sunday, September 19, 1993.

- Leased land and buildings
- Premises leased in Provincial Government buildings
- Prepaid leases

It is strongly recommended that the prospective purchaser perform a title search, visit the property, and check the lease agreements located at the respective stores. Copies of available lease documentation may also be viewed at the APWSS offices listed above. Any subsequent inquiries will be addressed by APWSS, Edmonton. For owned properties call 427-6179; for leased properties call 427-7644.

The buildings are being sold with or without all of the fixtures, furniture and equipment included. The proposal submission is to indicate if the fixtures, furniture and equipment are included.

Proposals for the leased premises are to provide two separate prices - one price for the lease and the second price for the tenant improvements, furniture, fixtures and all equipment (as is). Proposals may be submitted for the lease only if the prospective purchaser has no interest in the furniture, fixtures and equipment.

Liquor stock is not for sale with any of the properties.

The ALCB makes no claim or warranties as to the condition of the buildings or equipment.

The highest, or any proposal, will not necessarily be accepted. Proposals must be open for acceptance for a minimum of 60 days.

A licence to operate a liquor store must be separately applied for through the Alberta Liquor Control Board at 458-4311 (St. Albert) or 292-7200 (Calgary). For sales information on a particular ALCB store, contact either the store manager or phone the ALCB at the numbers given in this paragraph.

Downpayment program extended

Prime Minister Kim Campbell has announced a five-year extension to the First Home Loan Insurance (FHLI) program, which permits homebuyers to purchase their first house with a downpayment as low as five percent.

"The government is pleased to extend the FHLI program for an additional five years. Over the last 18 months, about 110,000 Canadian households have bought their first house with a federally-insured downpayment as low as five percent," said Paul Dick, Minister responsible for Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC).

A recent survey of Canadians who bought a home with less than ten percent down showed that almost 76,000 households would not have been able to purchase their home when they did without the FHLI program.

Of those who could have applied more to the downpayment of their homes, 80 percent indicated that they used the extra funds for home-related improvements, expenses and fees.

"The program's popularity has greatly exceeded our original expectations when it was introduced last year. It has increased accessibility to homeownership without added cost to government and has enabled more Canadians to invest in a home to build equity," Dick said.

As of August, 1993, the FHLI program has generated $10 billion of residential activity in the housing market across Canada. The program will continue to expand access to homeownership while supporting economic growth and job creation within the residential construction sector, according to the Minister.

When introduced in February, 1992, the two-year, First Home Loan Insurance program reduced the minimum ten percent downpayment requirement for federally-insured mortgages to five percent for first-time homebuyers. It was intended for people who could afford the monthly mortgage payments but had difficulty saving the minimum 10 percent.

Respondents to CMHC's survey said that a number of factors were instrumental in affecting the timing of their home purchase, the most important being mortgage rates, the availability of the FHLI program, home prices and borrowers' household incomes.

The FHLI activity represents 36 percent of the total value of homeowner loans insured under the National Housing Act, by CMHC, during the same period.

CMHC figures show that households buying a home with a five percent downpayment are cautious in assuming mortgage debt and do not carry higher debt loads than regular CMHC business.

YOU WOULDN'T FEED THEM MONEY, SO WHY DO YOU LET THEM DRINK IT?

You could be pouring far too much money into winter watering by using inefficient livestock waterers or floating stock tank heaters. You're paying for the energy they waste.

Now you can get the energy to do more. With an energy efficient livestock waterer you can save up to $50 right away with a special rebate from TransAlta for every one you purchase. And you can save as much as $80 a season, per waterer, by reducing your power bill — that can add up to more than $1200 over the life of one energy efficient waterer!

And cutting costs doesn't mean giving up reliability. Thousands of Alberta ranchers and farmers trust energy efficient livestock waterers to get the job done.

UP TO $50 REBATE
UNTIL NOVEMBER 30

Getting the rebate is easy. If you're a TransAlta customer, all you have to do is purchase an energy efficient or energy free livestock waterer between July 1, 1993, and November 30, 1993.

To be eligible, energy efficient models must be CSA approved and have an installed insulation level of R6 or better. Energy free models must have insulation levels of R28 or better. Energy efficient standard waterers, those without an insulated cover, will receive a $25 rebate. Waterers with an insulated cover will receive a $50 rebate.

There are plenty of energy efficient makes and models to choose from. Your local farm equipment dealer can show you the models that qualify and provide you with the rebate application forms. Or you can call us at 267-7533 and we'll send you an application form in the mail.

SAVE NOW, SAVE LATER

Energy efficient livestock waterers are an easy, reliable way to reduce your winter watering costs by up to $80 per season for every one you use. And since the purchase price between regular waterers and energy efficient waterers is minimal, especially with a rebate, you begin saving right away.

So get Power Smart, and keep your money in the bank instead of pouring it into the trough.

Terry Fox run set for Sunday

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

The annual Terry Fox Run, a fundraising venture for the Canadian Cancer Society, will take place September 19 in Didsbury.

Local organizer Grant Hemming said the local run committee is hoping to attract close to 60 participants in the run.

This is the 7th annual fundraising run to be held in Didsbury. Hemming said the purpose of the event is partly to help raise funds for cancer research, but also to increase public awareness about the fatal disease.

"Raising money is, of course, what it is all about, but participation and awareness are also a part of it," Hemming said. "Sadly, this disease is probably touching more and more people all the time."

Last year, 55 local participants helped to raise $2085 for research. Hemming said organizers would like to meet that same goal, if not exceed it.

"But last year wasn't our best year," he said. "In 1990, we had 84 people who raised $3815. But it isn't just about reaching a certain fundraising goal. We would be happy if people just came out and made a small donation and participated."

Registration for the run begins at 12:30 on the 19th in the front foyer at the Memorial Complex. The run itself goes from 12:30 to 4 pm. Hemming said runners can come at any time after 12:30.

"We will be there the whole time, so if people want to come after they have been to church and gone for lunch, they are more than welcome."

Hemming also stressed that runners are not the only participants welcome in the event. Walkers, cyclists and even roller bladers are also invited.

For more information about the upcoming run, call Grant or Brenda Hemming at 335-2390.

Fall classic growing every year

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Organizers of the annual Fall Classic All Breed Horse Show are enjoying the fruits of their labor again this year after hosting another successful show.

Arlene Morrish, show secretary, said the 6 year old event is getting bigger every year as competitors locally and from around the province get together for what she calls "the last kick at the cat".

"We are pretty well the last show of the season," Morrish said. "It is a sort of wind up for the people who show."

Along with the growing number of competitors, Morrish said the number of classes are also growing.

"The more people we have getting involved, the more classes we add," she said. "We are always open to trying something different."

One of the different things organizers tried this year was a championship class which included both young and adult competitors.

"Normally the championship is just for the juniors," Morrish said. "But this year we decided to open it up to the adults because just because you turned 18 doesn't mean you're ready to stop competing."

The new class made this year's event very interesting for the participants according to Morrish, because many hadn't taken part in the championship class for 5 to 6 years.

"A lot of them told me that they really had to put their thinking caps on," she said.

Winners in the new class were Cassandra Challand of Red Deer on Parkland's Perfection in English and Vicki Rushfeldt of Calgary on Zahr Little Bit in Western. Reserve prizes went to Dione Huber of Olds on CLF Rare Edition for English and Jennifer Worsfold of Olds on Prospectus in Western.

Changes upcoming in the future include plans to expand the prize list so they can add more basic seats and divide the classes up.

"We want to encourage more and more people to come out and participate," Morrish said. "but we also want to keep it a small, friendly and fun event."

Community returns

Pastor Dario Bonin of the Word of Life Centre handed over a cheque to Pat Graham of the Olds Food Bank for $500 last week. The money came from profits in the church's second hand store, managed by Sharon MacLennan (right). The store relies on donated goods, then uses the profits from the sale to give back to worthwhile community projects.

Didsbury library news

Drop by our Art Gallery/boardroom to view the beautiful quilt we have on display. The quilt is a joint effort of several Alberta libraries who successfully depicted Albertan life and landscape. The quilt project was the brainstorm of Parkland Regional Library - the central hub for libraries in the area.

The beautifully designed Didsbury square was stitched and donated to us by Christine Ahmad.

Also arriving this week is the Muttart Art Gallery's exhibit "A World of Tradition". This exhibit will also be displayed in the boardroom and there is no admission charge to view it.

NOTE: Registration begins today for Preschool Storytime, Creative Happenings, Reader's Theatre, and Introduction to Storytelling. Regretfully, Games Galore is cancelled.

What's cooking?

As we plunge into fall, there are few things as wonderful to look forward to as the taste of freshly harvested vegetables. Corn is a great example of that Indian Summer taste which helps to warm up cool, September evenings.

And there are few tastes that rival the flavor of steaming hot corn-on-the-cob coated with lots of melted butter. Sweet local corn and fresh creamery butter - they're an unbeatable combination. Dairy Bureau of Canada's Home Economists have taken this taste treat one step further and incorporated spices, herbs and even honey into softened butter to produce "kernel coat" guaranteed to please. They are simple to make and store well in the refrigerator - ready at the moment's notice for your next corn feast.

FLAVORED BUTTERS FOR CORN-ON-THE-COB

Black Peppercorn Butter: Beat together $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL) butter, softened, 1 Tbsp (15 mL) coarsely-ground black pepper and $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp (2 mL) salt. Let stand 1 hour to blend flavors. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL).

Taco Butter: Beat together $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL) butter, softened and 2 tsp (10 mL) taco seasoning. Let stand 1 hour to blend flavors. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL).

Green Onion Butter: Beat together $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL) butter, softened, 2 Tbsp (30 mL) finely-chopped green onions or chives and $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp (1 mL) salt. Let stand 1 hour to blend flavors. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL).

Honey Butter: Beat together $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL) butter, softened, $\frac{1}{3}$ cup (75 mL) honey and $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp (2 mL) salt. Let stand 1 hour to blend flavors. Makes about $\frac{1}{2}$ cup (125 mL).

Election Day is on its way!

THE RULES FOR THIS ELECTION ARE BASED ON THE RECENTLY AMENDED CANADA ELECTIONS ACT.

Will the new Elections Act affect how you exercise your right to vote?

Yes, to some extent, because the new measures will provide eligible voters with more ways to exercise their right to vote. For example, it is now possible to vote by "Special Ballot" and revision of the voters list has been extended to give more voters the opportunity to be registered.

The Special Ballot: a new way to have your say

By allowing you to vote in advance either by mail or in person, the Special Ballot addresses voter concerns related to conflicting schedules, distance or mobility.

- If you expect that you will be unable to vote on Election Day, October 25 or at the Advance Polls, October 16, 18 and 19, you can vote by Special Ballot as of now. For more information, contact the Elections Canada office in your riding.
- Voters away from their riding can pick up the registration form entitled "Voting by Canadians away from their ridings", available at all Canada Post Corporation outlets MAIL > POSTE.
- As for voters who are temporarily outside Canada, and Canadians who have been residing abroad for less than five years, you can play a part in helping them to exercise their right to vote. Just tell them to pick up the above registration form at any Canadian diplomatic mission abroad. Or if possible, send them one by fax. The forms can be found at all Canada Post Corporation outlets.

An election with a difference: no enumeration*

The voters list, compiled by Elections Canada during the enumeration for the October 1992 referendum, will be used again for this federal election. In order to update this list, the majority of Canadians will receive, within the coming weeks, a Federal Voters List Revision Card, as illustrated. This card confirms that your name is on the list and tells you where and when you can vote. A leaflet from Elections Canada will arrive shortly afterwards explaining what to do in order to correct any errors or omissions on this card.

* Except in Quebec, as the one held there last October was conducted under provincial legislation.

A reminder to all eligible voters

To exercise your right to vote, you must be a Canadian citizen, at least 18 years of age on Election Day and your name must appear on the voters list.

Some important dates to remember

End of revision of the voters list: October 20 • Advance Polls: October 16, 18 and 19 • Election Day: October 25

- Notice to all cable subscribers: Elections Canada voter information is broadcast daily on the Parliamentary Channel.

Beat the bug

The yearly battle with the "flu bug" that troubles so many Canadians each winter can be more than just a pest that makes you feel sick for a few days. It can kill you!

The "bug" is actually the very contagious influenza virus, which almost always attacks the lungs first, but may spread to other parts of the body. The symptoms may include high fever, headache, aches and pains, generalized weakness and cough. The real dangers of this virus are the complications which can develop as influenza leaves your body's defences weak and open to other infections. Pneumonia is the most common complication. Influenza and pneumonia account for 5,000 deaths each year in Canada, and put 70,000 people in the hospital.

Anyone can get influenza, but those at greater risk include:

- anyone with chronic heart, lung or kidney disease
- anyone with diabetes, cancer or anaemia
- residents of nursing homes or chronic care facilities
- anyone over 65 years of age

You can protect yourself against influenza by receiving a flu shot every fall. Yearly vaccination prevents flu in about 75 percent of people who get the flu shot; for the rest, vaccination usually reduces the severity of illness and saves lives. Modern "split virus" flu vaccine is very safe and effective. Most people have little or no reaction to the vaccine. Some may experience slight soreness where the needle is given, and occasionally chills, headache or mild tummy upset may occur. You cannot get influenza from the vaccine!

Mount View Health Unit's Public Health Nurses will once again be providing flu vaccine free of charge for individuals at risk in early October. Please contact your local health unit office for more information.

Beat the Bug - get a flu shot!

Cremona Gold and Silver news

The September potluck supper signalled an end to the summer that never was: - nine months winter and three months of poor sledding as the old-timers used to say. The rain did make for bounteous gardens and velvety green lawns and now Indian summer is on its way.

Bridge, whist and bowling are starting up again. Check the new calendar for times and dates.

Thanks to Daisy Sullivan, we now have a design for a club pin. It has already been used on a quilt block and individual pins will be ordered sometime in the near future.

The kitchen cupboards are finished and installed and we thank Robert Bosch of Water Valley for his expert craftsmanship. They will be our pride and joy for many years to come.

A vote of thanks was given to Audrey Rigby and her travel committee for organizing all the bus trips. The last sightseeing tour included coffee stops at the Drumheller senior's centre and the Fort McMurray one as well. The friendship and hospitality was enjoyed by all.

Don't forget the birthday party on September 24. Kay Unger will be the hostess.

The next potluck supper will be on October 2 at 6:30 p.m.

Church merger becomes official

A new Canadian denomination - The Evangelical Missionary Church of Canada - came into being on Friday, August 6, 1993 when 243 delegates from nine provinces of Canada voted unanimously to merge the former Missionary Church of Canada and the Evangelical Church in Canada into one new body.

The day before, 620 members and friends of these two denominations arrived on the campus of the University of Calgary for discussion and fellowship before the historic vote.

The following Sunday, August 8, over 1,600 people from 46 Evangelical churches (most of them in the west) and from 99 Missionary church congregations (three-fourths in the east) converged on the Jubilee Auditorium in north west Calgary to help celebrate this historic event. Reverend David Crouse, Western District Superintendent of the former Missionary Church of Canada, was elected as president of the newly formed denomination. Dr. James Field, (presently on pastoral staff of the Calgary Centre Street Evangelical Church) was elected vice-president. The Board of Directors consists of an equal number of pastors and laymen from both the east and west.

The new denomination has committed itself to evangelism, world missions, church planting and the training of Christian leaders both within the church and in everyday society. This is being done mainly by the denomination's two fully-accredited schools, Emmanuel Bible College in Kitchener, Ontario, and Rocky Mountain College in Calgary, Alberta. They have a combined student body of over 400.

The Evangelical Missionary Church of Canada now belongs to a world-wide denominational family with an estimated 1,300 churches in 25 countries with a total constituency of 150,000. Within Canada itself, these churches include Indonesian, Chinese, Spanish, Vietnamese, Tamil, West Indian, Korean, Arabic and Iranian congregations.

Since 1991 the church has entered five new mission fields. It is the vision of some of its leaders to see the Evangelical Missionary Church of Canada planted in every major country of the world including such places as Russia, Manchuria, Kenya and Cuba.

Special features of the Merger Assembly included youth and children's activities, a chuckwagon breakfast, a hockey game (east vs west) and a concert by tenor soloist, Steve Amerson. During the day, workshops offered discussions on evangelism, trends in the church, spiritual warfare, care giving ministries and worship. The keynote speaker, Dr. Martin Sanders, professor at the Christian and Mission-

AGRICULTURE

Pool estimates production at 19.1 Mt

Alberta Pool Managers estimate 1993 production of the six major grains in Alberta and northeastern British Columbia at 19.1 million tonnes, based on data gathered on August 30, 1993.

The 19.1 million tonne estimate is the first estimate of this year's crop season, and compares to 1992 production of 13.8 million tonnes and a ten year average production of 15.2 million tonnes. If the 19.1 million tonne estimate were to be realized, the 1993 crop would rank as the largest crop ever, displacing the record production of 18.0 million tonnes in 1986.

Alberta Pool's Crop Analyst JoAnne Meents remains cautious about the high estimate. "With very little of the crop actually in the bins, it's difficult to accurately estimate yields," said Meents. "Over the next few weeks we'll probably see this estimate change somewhat to better reflect more accurate information."

Yield estimates by crop as of August 30 are listed below. Factors such as frost, hail and disease could result in reductions to these estimates. Likewise, if the crops were to receive some warm, dry weather in the late stages of development, yields could increase.

Grain	Yield (bu./acre)
HRS Wheat	39.2
CPS Wheat	55.4
Winter Wheat	47.2

SWS Wheat	72.1
Durum	40.2
Oats	83.2
Barley	66.1
Flax	21.8
Fall Rye	45.2
Canola	27.3

Meents also pointed out that it is important to remember this estimate is based on information Pool elevator staff had gathered as of August 30 and does not account for weather conditions which may occur between then and the end of harvest.

Alberta Pool reports that yield estimates look promising throughout the province but are particularly bright in the south and west-central parts of the province. The highest yield estimate for barley (82.8 bu./acre) comes from Crop District 2 (Brooks-Lethbridge). Crop District 2 also reports the highest canola yield estimate in the province at 36.9 bu./acre. Hard Red Spring Wheat is fairing well further north in Crop District 8 (Red Deer) where yield estimates presently sit at 51.7 bu./acre.

Further yield and production estimates between now and the end of harvest will be issued on a weekly basis through Alberta Pool's Crop Report

Funding program to help farm diversity

Charles Mayer, Agriculture and Agri-Food Minister and Minister for Small Communities and Rural Areas, has announced funding to encourage farm families to enhance family income through off-farm employment or the start-up of small businesses.

The Canadian Rural Opportunities Initiative provides $25 million over three years for counselling, training and business development to assist farm families to increase and diversify their incomes. In the past, similar assistance was available only to producers leaving the farm to pursue new alternative job opportunities.

The program will target families with below average incomes and farms not large enough -- or not readily expandable -- to provide a reasonable income from the farm alone.

"The federal government is committed to assisting producers in adapting to changing conditions," said Mayer. "This initiative will enable family members to take advantage of new opportunities that may exist in addition to the farming operation."

"This program fits the real needs of farm families. It encourages people to stay in rural communities while increasing their skills and opportunities," the Minister added. "This is an innovative way to help producers and to strengthen the economic base in rural Canada."

The program was developed by the federal government with input from provincial ministries, farm groups and other interested parties. The federal government will work with the provinces to develop an effective delivery system.

To be eligible under the program, a minimum amount of farm sales, expected to be around $10,000, is required, and total farm and non-farm net income has to be under an estimated $30,000 cap. Besides funding, eligible farmers will also receive career, personal, business and legal counselling and training assistance.

Final details of the program are expected shortly, after discussions with the provinces and the federal labor department.

Home Hardware helps feather your nest

by Maureen Lynn
Review writer

The "Home of the Handyman" is bustling with activity these days as Didsburians race to feather their nests before the snow flies.

"It gets pretty busy around here this time of year," says Don Tarzwell of Didsbury's Home Hardware. Since taking over operations at the store two years ago, Tarzwell has grown accustomed to the steady stream of customers to his business along 17th Avenue and 20th Street.

Tarzwell figures it's just plain human nature to finish up those last few renovations and fix-up jobs while the weather is cooperative. Small wonder with the complete line of paint, plumbing, electrical supplies, hand tools, housewares, garden supplies like fertilizers, seeds, lawnmowers, and cleaning supplies like mops, brooms, cleansers, and polishes. "We try to carry a bit of everything that way it keeps us versatile," Tarzwell says. "...even if we don't have an item in stock, it doesn't take us long to get something. Many times, we can receive it for our customers the very next day depending when they make the order."

Customer service has always been a priority with Tarzwell and his wife Elaine, who works with him at the store, together with four full time and one part time employee. Tarzwell, who used to work at a farm equipment and automotive dealership in Fairview, naturally aspires to the individual needs of those who visit his store. No two hardware requests are alike, and while household repairs or renovations may appear similar, everyone has different challenges to overcome when seeing the job through.

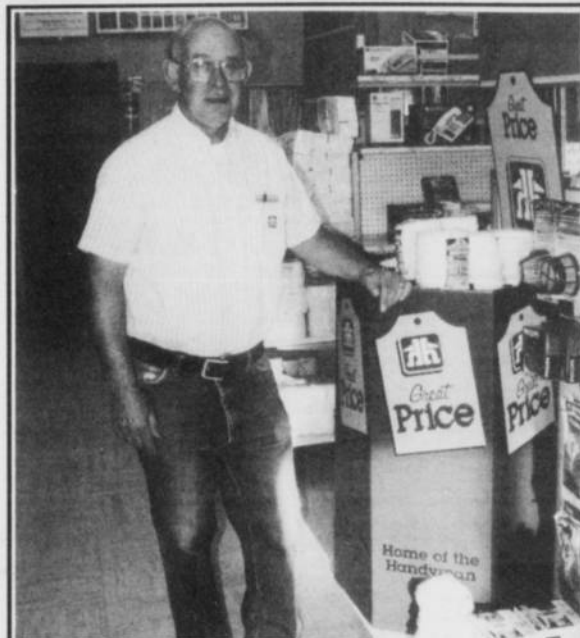

"I think I've always felt I wanted to own a hardware store. I mean, I'm no expert, but I have quite a bit of knowledge about what sort of supplies you need to get a job done well."

The commitment he feels towards the store is really twofold. Home Hardware, he explains, is actually owned by the individual dealers who operate the stores, rendering Tarzwell a shareholder in his own company. "It's a Canadian company based out of St. Jacobs, Ontario," he says.

In the future, Tarzwell would like to see his store expand to offer more display room for his customers. "It's funny, you know. After you're in this business awhile, you get to know almost everyone that walks through that door. New residents stop in here a lot. We seem to meet everyone in town!"

Home Hardware is open Monday to Friday from 8:30 - 6 p.m. and between 8:30 and 5 p.m. on Saturday. No need to rush too much though...as Tarzwell puts it, "We always say that we aren't closed until the last person leaves the store."

For every home

Home Hardware owner Don Tarzwell says no two customer requests are alike, which is why he likes to keep his store selection so varied.

Government business expansion plan launched

Ken Kowalski, Minister of Economic Development and Tourism has released the new Alberta Global Business Plan 1993/94.

The Alberta Global Business Plan 1993/94 sets out the objectives and strategies of the Alberta government to support tourism, trade and investment. It is a single source listing of proposed cooperative industry/government activities designed to help companies expand their reach outside Alberta. Companies are encouraged to participate in these activities which include incoming and outgoing seminars, trade missions and trade shows, tourism promotion events, technology exploration missions and investment development.

"The health of Alberta's economy is based on the worldwide export of resources and manufactured good and services," said Kowalski. "The Alberta Advantage helps us to attract people, business and capital to the province in order to conduct our international business in the most competitive way."

"By putting Alberta business in direct contact with those who are coordinating the tourism, trade, investment and technology activities, we are in a better position to remain competitive. We hope to improve the network of communication and cooperation among partners who share an interest in expanding Alberta's competitive global business," he added.

The 1994/95 Business Plan is now being developed in cooperation with the federal government, Alberta Agriculture, Alberta's International Offices and industry representatives. It will be distributed in March 1994.

For copies of the Alberta Global Business Plan please contact Alberta Economic Development and Tourism, Division Services at (403) 422-6236.

Didsbury to host Olympic hockey

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Didsbury has been appointed as the site of a final game in a six series game between Team Canada and Team Norway.

Official confirmation of Didsbury Minor Hockey's application to host one game in the series came early Monday from Hockey Canada, according to local organizer Ian Hopfe.

"We applied just a couple of weeks ago," Hopfe said. "This is pretty big news."

The game to be hosted at the Memorial Complex will be the final game in the six series warm-up for the 1994 Winter Olympics. The series begins on October 5. The two teams will play in Didsbury on October 13.

Hopfe said organizers are still working out details, but tickets are expected to go on sale early next week.

"Because of the limited seating tickets will be on sale early," he said. "We expect the ticket prices will be around $10."

More details about the game and ticket sales will be in next week's issue.

First production

"The Odd Couple" is the first local 3 act play production to be undertaken by the newly formed Theatre Didsbury. Boasting a local cast, the play is a situational comedy about two men trying to live as roommates in New York in the 1960s. Theatre Didsbury will offer the play for local residents at a Pub Night on September 17.

Odd Couple produced to entertain

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Members of the newly created Theatre Didsbury are hoping their new production will make you laugh.

Tony Sylvestre and Derek Lewis, co-producers, co-directors and co-stars in the upcoming Theatre Didsbury version of "The Odd Couple" said their mandate is to produce funny accessible theatre with every performance. "The Odd Couple" is the first offering from the new company.

"We want to focus on 3 act comedies," said Sylvestre. "Nothing high brow. We want to do shows that appeal to everybody."

Their choice of "The Odd Couple" for their first local, full stage performance fits in well with this philosophy. An old classic, "The Odd Couple" is a situational comedy about two men, thrown out by their wives, who try and make it together as room mates. Two famous versions, a film starring Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon and a television sitcom starring Tony Randall and Jack Klugman, have already made the story a famous one.

"We are hoping that (infamy) will help to draw people in," said Lewis. "Hopefully people will remember the name and come out to see us."

The show stars Sylvestre and Lewis in the lead roles as Oscar and Felix. Local talents Lin Gilbreath, Lori Kemmere, Don Matchullis, Arden Whittleton, Rick Phillips and Gary Edwards star as Gwendolyn, Cecily, Murray the cop, Speed, Roy and Vinnie to fill out the cast.

The show's first performance will be a pub night on September 17. A benefit performance for the Lions' Project Eyesight will be held September 18. Tickets for the first performance are on sale at various stores around town. Tickets for the benefit are $20 each and are available through the Lions.

Besides their current production, Lewis and Sylvestre are also planning a spring performance they hope to produce next year. In keeping with their plans, the 3 act play is another comedy called "Love, Sex and the IRS".

"We are hoping to do a fall and spring production every year," said Lewis. "We may do more as we grow, but it is hard until more people get involved."

Calgary to host professional tennis tournament

The $30,000 Canon Challenger men's professional tennis tournament, part of the ATP Tour's series of worldwide Challenger events and the ninth and final leg of Circuit K-Swiss '93, will be played Oct. 2-10 at the Edgemont Club in Calgary. Tennis Canada announced last week.

Expected to draw more than 60 players from at least a dozen different countries, the Canon Challenger will mark the first time a world-ranking professional tennis tournament has been held in the province of Alberta.

The international tournament, will also make Calgary the only Canadian city to host two legs of Circuit K-Swiss this year. The Glenmore Club hosted the opening leg, a $12,000 domestic tournament which saw Brian Gyetko of Wetland, Ont. defeat Mark Greenan of Cambridge, Ont. in the singles final Jan. 17.

"Having the Canon Challenger at the Edgemont Club means Circuit K-Swiss will end where it began; in Calgary," said Tournament Director Jane Wynne of Tennis Canada. "We think it will be one of the best showcases for tennis held to date in Western Canada and arguably the biggest thing to hit Alberta since the Davis Cup was held in Edmonton in 1987."

The $30,000 Canon Challenger will feature main draws of 32 players in singles and 16 teams in doubles. Qualifying draws will be held Oct. 2-3 at Edgemont. All matches count towards valuable ranking points on the IBM/ATP Tour world computer.

"Canon's support for the Calgary event has combined with that of K-Swiss for the overall circuit to ensure another solid competitive opportunity for our leading players to earn world-ranking points here at home and that's another step forward in the promotion and development of Canadian tennis," said John Beddington, the Executive Vice-President of Tennis Canada who announced the Canon sponsorship of the Circuit K-Swiss event with Ben Werbski, Senior Manager, Corporate Advertising and Communications for Canon

Canada, and Clive Figueira, President of K-Swiss Canada.

Canon joins SunLife of Canada, which supported the $60,000 Sun Life Challenger earlier this year in Surrey, B.C., and Penn, Evian and BMW, each of which is an associate sponsor of the overall Circuit K-Swiss, a coast-to-coast series of nine events which featured five world-ranking tournaments (three for men and two for women).

"The commitment by Canon allows us to continue the growth of Circuit K-Swiss and to build on the solid foundation the first eight events have given us so far this year," said Figueira, pointing to the previous K-Swiss legs in Calgary, Surrey, Windsor, Pointe-Claire, Que., Saskatoon, Collingwood, Ont., Montebello, Que. and Winnipeg.

American Kenny Thorne won the first Circuit K-Swiss world-ranking tournament, the Sun Life Challenger in February, with a victory over Alberta Chang of Calgary in the final. The Montebello tournament was won by Cristiano Caratti of Italy, a former top-25 player. Rene Simpson Alter of Toronto and Elena Savoldi of Italy won the women's Challengers in Collingwood and Winnipeg, respectively.

More information on the Canon Challenger can be obtained by contacting Cindy Heister at the Edgemont Club, where box and regular tickets are available at (403) 239-4048.

The Didsbury Aquatic Centre has been open and operating for just over six months now and we'd like to report that things are going great! Spring and summer saw patrons from far and wide enjoying the facility and all of the programs that have been offered. Children from six months old and up have been learning to swim, adults of all ages and abilities have been learning to get fit or stay fit have been participating in our fun, fun, fun aquacize classes, and 50+ Fun and Fitness classes have been getting their fair share of fun and exercise too. We saw our summer swim club, the Aqua Jets, complete their first season in the new facility with great success, and we've also helped over 300 Grade 1-4 students complete their first set of school lessons. We must say, we've been enjoying it all!

Cremona minor hockey news

by Ryan Robertson
Special to the Review

The "Brandon Boys" are back. Their safe return from a mission to play hockey for the Calgary Dynastars in Brandon, Manitoba, is one which ensured memories for all concerned, and a story which encompassed the three prairie provinces.

The four Cremona minor hockey players were Pee Wee Minor Cody Farquharson and Atom Majors Clayton Backstrom, Darcy Hinds and Kaleb Marr.

They report a good trip to Manitoba and back, but undoubtedly satisfaction in the hockey they went to play, due mainly to very competitive games at a level where hard work was a necessity.

With the base of their stay being the Victorian Inn, the four played well for their respective teams and keynoted the good friendships made with fellow teammates. The parents as well responded in a very positive manner and plan to hold a reunion when inescapable thoughts of this summer just have to be re-lived.

Back from Manitoba

Clayton Backstrom, Darcy Hinds and Kaleb Marr just returned from playing hockey in Brandon with the Calgary Dynastars. The Cremona players are expected to bring back some new skills from the experience when they hit the ice at home.

The Didsbury Aquatic Centre will soon see its first-ever Master's Swim Club form. In September, past members of swim clubs as well as over-twenties that have never swam competitively will start to train with workouts designed for their abilities and needs. Masters Swim Clubs are popular around the world and service the 20-99 year old age group who want more of a challenge to swimming than just swimming laps.

Speaking of laps, there have already been thousands swam in the lanes of the Didsbury Aquatic Centre by people of all ages. Soon, these same people and some new ones will be swimming to destinations around the world without going out of town! If you're a lap swimmer or would like to be one, many new challenges are soon to be offered.

Does it sound too structured so far? Well, don't let us fool you with all of the things we've mentioned so far because you can still play basketball, volleyball, the all-new underwater hockey or swing on the rope. Hot-tub soakers are a popular bunch, too, and we've seen lots of beach lovers here, as well. We've had a great six months and we look forward to many, many more successful months and years.

Sheep dog trials this weekend

by Janice Harrington
Review Editor

Residents looking to experience a fascinating look at the relationship between man and dog should head out to PaSu Farm this weekend.

PaSu will be the sight of the Open Sheep Dog Trials, an event sanctioned by the Alberta Stock Dog Association. The trials pit shepherds and their dogs against the clock, the landscape and a small herd of uncooperative sheep.

The skill of the dog handler and the dog are judged at this competition. A group of sheep are released about 400 yards away and the dog must be directed to round the sheep up, manoeuvre them through a series of gates, cut some from the main group and wind up with the majority in a small pen. Set in the majestic splendour of the farm which backs onto the foothills west of Carstairs, the event is a perfect way to spend a weekend in the country.

Besides the event itself, PaSu also offers its own attractions, including an interpretive centre on sheep farming and a tea room. Tickets to get into the Sheep Dog Trials are $3 each and $2 for children under 10.

The trials take place on Saturday and Sunday, September 18th and 19th.

Horseless carriages in a roadless province

"Billy Cochrane of our town has brought Alberta its first automobile," reported the Calgary Eye Opener, then publishing from High River. "High River is the pioneer of progress. Okotoks still clings to the Red River cart."

That was August 3, 1903. Cochrane's auto was a steam-powered Locomobile with pressure of 160 pounds, good for 12 horse-power and capable of 40 miles an hour on a good road. It seated four and carried a tool box, a picnic basket, and a wicker accessory for stowing parasols.

The following year Joe Morris of Edmonton saw an ad for a car in a Winnipeg newspaper. Rushing to the CPR express office, he asked the agent what it would cost to bring the contraption to Edmonton by express. "It will cost exactly $775 delivered to South Edmonton," the agent declared. Morris stipulated he would meet his new purchase in Calgary to drive it through the streets there, then pay for reshipping it to Edmonton.

It seemed all the residents of Edmonton and Strathcona were on hand for its arrival. Powered by a gasoline engine, it was painted bright red and mounted with two enormous brass headlamps. A crank stuck out halfway between the front and rear wheels.

Morris jumped in and persuaded an onlooker to turn the crank. One man did but immediately jumped back lest, as he said later, it should blow up. Cranked again, the auto thundered forward. On Jasper Avenue, hundreds lined the sidewalks as the red monster, steam pouring from its hood, sped down the street at ten miles per hour. A few horses tore loose from their tetherings and fled in terror.

The first Edmonton-to-Calgary automobile trip was recorded in March of 1906. H.W. White of Calgary had bought a 29-horse-power Ford from Georges Coriveau in Edmonton, and the two set off at 10 a.m. one Saturday with Coriveau's son and G.T. Lundy of Innisfail for the 200-mile trip down the Calgary Trail. They arrived at 7 p.m. Sunday, having stopped in Red Deer overnight.

Reported the Calgary Herald: "The roads in many places were very rough and in one place the car ploughed through nearly twenty miles of snow. The stretch from Lacombe to Red Deer was the best of the trip, the car hitting a clip of about forty miles an hour. When the party arrived in Calgary the car was uninjured and not the smallest part of its intricate make-up was missing." It had used twenty gallons of gasoline and a gallon of lubricating oil.

At this time, motoring was more of a sport than a means of transportation. But when Alberta became a province, one of the first tasks of the legislators was to regulate its use and, incidentally, make a little money from it. The Automobile Act of 1906 set the speed limit at 10 miles an hour in towns and 20 in the country, except when passing a horse-drawn vehicle, when the limit was reduced to 10. Meeting a rig, the car was limited to five miles an hour and if the horses seemed frightened it must stop altogether. Cost of a driver's license was $3. Each car was given a license number that had to be displayed. Alberta no. 1 being given to Joe Morris. Alberta had 41 cars. By 1910, 699 permits were issued.

The automobile soon gave notice of its future importance to Alberta's economy. Up to 1910 demand consistently outstripped supply in the west. People were finding that a car's upkeep was about the same as that for a team of horses. Soon mass production would transform the new technology from idle sport to vital necessity.

(This story is one of hundreds appearing in "Alberta in the Twentieth Century," the magnificent 11-volume history of our province being produced, one volume a year, throughout the 1990s. You can see and purchase your copy of Volume 1, entitled "The Great West Before 1900," (292 pages with 279 great pictures) at your local Alberta Treasury Branch.)

Music mania

Music didn't start with Michael Jackson or Motley Crüe. It has been around a long, long time and has quite an interesting history. Below are some fascinating facts:

•Minstrel madness: In the middle ages, wandering musicians made their livings by singing and reciting poetry. These minstrel shows were very popular.

•Making a stink: Some say that Ludwig Van Beethoven never took a bath while he was writing his Ninth Symphony.

•Believe it or note: A "Blue Note" is a flattened note, usually on the third or seventh tones of the scale. A true blue note, however, is not written — it is sung.

•Have a harp: For years the harp was thought to have originated in Ireland.

But a recent discovery, found in a primitive burial land, revealed that they originated in Mesopotamia.

•Taking the lead: Conductors have two important jobs. The first is to choose the music. The second is to see to it that the band or orchestra plays it in accordance to what they believe to be the composer's original intentions.

•Time on your side: It takes the average artisan approximately a month to produce a handmade classical guitar.

•Rhythm nation: The first thing people notice when they are listening to music is the rhythm. Even babies keep time with their heads, bodies or feet.

DID YOU KNOW?

THE MALE DEER (OR BUCK) HAS ANTLERS. THESE ARE BONY STRUCTURES THAT GROW EACH YEAR FROM THE FRONT OF THE SKULL AND ARE COVERED WITH HAIRY SKIN CALLED "VELVET."

THERE'S MORE TO THE MULE THAN MEETS THE EYE. DID YOU KNOW IT IS ACTUALLY A COMBINATION OF A MALE DONKEY AND A FEMALE HORSE?

IN 1943, THREE BRITISH PRISONERS OF WAR IN A GERMAN PRISON CAMP USED A VAULTING HORSE TO ESCAPE. WHILE THEIR FELLOW PRISONERS DID EXERCISES OVER THE HORSE, THEY DUG A TUNNEL UNDERNEATH.
